AT-RISK & HIGH-NEEDS YOUTH PROGRAMS

Young people navigating complex circumstances may face challenges that attendance records, incident reports, and program metrics cannot fully explain. Assessdo adds a practical human-insight layer so youth-serving organizations can better understand experiences, spot concerning trends, and coordinate timely, appropriate support.

THE THREE CHALLENGES WE HELP ADDRESS

Unheard experiences	Young people may struggle to communicate concerns about belonging, safety, trust, motivation, family pressures, or access to resources during routine program activities.
Support comes late	Disengagement, repeated absences, conflict, or changes in behavior can become visible before staff understand the underlying needs and context.
Fragmented support	Mentor observations, youth feedback, family engagement, school indicators, and case-management notes may be separated across teams and systems.

HOW ASSESSDO HELPS

Assessdo supports existing youth-development practices with short, accessible engagement and structured insights—not another lengthy survey or disconnected reporting requirement.

- ENGAGE Trusted adults invite youth to respond to brief video prompts through text, voice, or video, according to program settings and permissions.
- CONNECT Combine authorized youth feedback with approved staff observations and relevant participation or progress indicators.
- UNDERSTAND Surface recurring themes and changes over time; designated staff review, confirm, or clarify AI-suggested interpretations.
- RESPOND Use appropriately shared findings to guide check-ins, referrals, mentoring plans, family coordination, and program improvements.

DESIGNED FOR YOUR YOUTH PROGRAM

Adapt Assessdo to mentoring, after-school services, foster-care support, alternative education, violence prevention, community outreach, and reengagement initiatives. Begin with a single cohort or site; align prompts and follow-up responsibilities to your existing staff workflows.

FROM YOUTH VOICE TO COORDINATED ACTION

WHAT YOUR ORGANIZATION CAN WORK TOWARD

Earlier understanding Recognize developing patterns in engagement, confidence, or sense of belonging and bring concerns to qualified team members.

Stronger relationships Create consistent opportunities for youth to be heard by trusted adults, helping staff ask better follow-up questions.

More coordinated support Connect validated themes with appropriate mentoring, case-management, school, family, and community resource responses.

Clearer evidence of impact Measure check-in participation, staff follow-through, youth-reported experiences, and selected program goals over time.

THE ASSESSDO DIFFERENCE

Attendance, referrals, and case records show important events. Assessdo is designed to illuminate the human experiences behind those measures, why a young person may feel disconnected, hopeful, overwhelmed, or ready for new opportunities.

Youth-friendly check-ins • Trusted-adult engagement • Staff observations • Longitudinal themes • Human-validated insights

A FOCUSED 60–90 DAY PILOT

Select one program, site, or cohort. Establish baseline participation and support indicators; invite trusted adults to share brief prompts; collect approved observations; review validated trends on a defined cadence; and document the support actions taken.

Suggested pilot measures: youth check-in participation, recurring engagement themes, staff follow-up completion, youth-reported trust and belonging, referral coordination, and selected attendance or program-completion measures.

BEYOND WHAT YOUNG PEOPLE DO. UNDERSTAND WHAT THEY ARE EXPERIENCING.
